UNIVERSAL SUBMARINE FENDERS SPECIFICATION

Scope: This specification establishes requirements for Universal Submarine Fenders to be used as separators for submarine tender operations. To avoid damage to Submarines, the universal Submarine fender contacts the hull of the Submarine several feet above the vertical tangent of the hull, (above the centerline). It can be positioned at any location along the parallel mid-body without contacting the critical sections of the submarine. The basic structure of the universal submarine fender is a triangular steel pipe support frame assembly. The separator has three legs or sides angled at 13-degrees and house the energy absorbing material or rubber fender. In the operating position, the assembly is oriented so that two legs are always inboard and the single leg is outboard. The fenders are required to maintain the point of contact. Two universal submarine separators Type I and two Type II (one-half ship-set) is required to moor two submarines outboard a tender. They were configured specifically to avoid damage to the Submarine sonar, special hull treatment (SHT), and clearances relative to forward diving planes, stern screws/ rudders in all classes of submarines. Clearances will remain sufficient in all reasonable loading conditions. They are intended for use in both the forward and aft. locations in which ship and submarine or submarine and submarine can be arranged either bow-to-bow, staggered, or bow-to-stern mooring arrangement. Use of the separator system permits any active class submarine to moor next to a submarine tender or nested to any other active submarine, in either a bow-to-bow, staggered, or a bow-to-stern mooring arrangement.
